Conclusion

- Use cases are important – not to start with one but to identify when do we want to use eID, different answers in different countries
- Must remember the professionals – usability will be key
- As much as possible we must look at what has been done – EESSI, Schengen ID, passport, etc

Conclusion

- Different assurance levels in different countries, this needs to be defined.
- quality assurance in the regulation needed, notification implications
- its impossible to avoid authorisation
- cross sectoral should not be an issue
